

Jeff Bluegrind

Since 1981, Jeff Bluegrind has been entertaining at parties throughout the nation with his unique style of charm and knack for creating fun. He prides himself on being an entertainer that doesn't have a set routine. He is creative and knows how to create fun without relying on rehearsed material or being rude and overbearing. Jeff's years of experience have given him the ability to read a crowd and tailor each performance accordingly. From being the interactive entertainer - teaching the latest dances at high energy events and night clubs - to the conservative entertainer - just playing great music and making announcements at internationally hosted diplomatic events.... You can count on Jeff to impress your guests!

His references are also very impressive. Jeff has received commendations from his repeat performances for many large organizations, including:

Jeff is one of our 100% digital disc jockeys using the latest technology from Apple Computer. His system is based on a laptop computer and is so compact that it fits in the overhead compartment of commercial airplanes for easy travel. From weddings to theme parties, corporate functions to special host needs, birthday bashes to anniversaries, Jeff does it all. If you are planning an award show or presentation, Jeff can make it sound like the Academy Awards with orchestral play-on and play-off music. Plus his computer based library allows for instant access to thousands of songs and sound bytes to compliment Jeff's witty comedic timing.
